BURROWS IN RIVER BANK

Gen. Cronje's Men Dig Out and Hide in Shell Proof Positions

CANNOT BE DISLODGED

British Defeat Three Attempts By Gen. De Witt to Relieve Cronje's Force

ROBERTS HELD IN CHECK BY HEROIC ARMY OF 8,000 MEN

Gen. Roberts Has Set to Work Approaching the Boer Lines in Zig Zag Trenches—Drawing the Cordon Closer About the Dutch Laagers—The Boers Are Again Practically Holding the Kopjes Around Colenso—Reinforcements For Cronje Badly Whipped in an Attempt to Force the British Line.

Paardeberg, Feb. 26 [Special Cablegram]—Gen. Cronje's position is unchanged. A balloon reconnoisance yesterday discovered the Boers well covered by a system of burrows in the river banks like rabbits warrens which affords them shell proof positions. The baloon found their ammunition wagons in the river bed which the British artillery had destroyed.

Gen. DeWitt's relief columns, athousand strong, made three attempts yesterday to join Gen. Cronje by endeavoring to break through the British lines. The Boers ultimately retreated, seemingly panic stricken.

General Roberts has set the sappers to work approaching the Boer lines with zigzag trenches, and he is drawing the cordon closer about the Boer laagers. Roberts has also has had built defeneive works on the outer position.

Sharp Engagement Results

The Boers returned, however, after the third repulse, and a portion of them occupied a kopje flanked by the Scottish borderers and facing another kopje flanked by the Yorkshires. A vigorous fusillade ensued, the British succeeding in silencing the Boer fire.

A company of Yorkshires was sent to clear out the Boers but the attempt failed The British then again opened a heavy rifle fire which again silenced the Boers, who made several attempts to run but the maxims checked them. A small force got within one hundred and fifty yards of them and captured eighty prisoners, the remainder of the force getting away.

Buller Reports Casualties

London, Feb. 26—[Special Cablegram]—Gen. Buller reports eleven officers wounded, twelve men killed, ninety-six wounded and two missing in the fighting on the 22d and 23rd. Casualties at Paardeberg on the 19th, five killed and twenty-one wounded.

Consternation At Pretoria.

London, Feb. 26—The Lorenzo Marquee correspondent of the Times says:

"The feeling in official circles at Pretoria border on consternation General Louis Botha and President Steyn are both urging President Krueger to sue for peace.

"At Bloemfontein General Cronje's position is regarded as hopeless.

Destroy Vaal River Bridge.

Kimberley, Feb. 26—It is reported that the boers were in strength at fourteen streams, to the north, on Wednesday, having two guns and many wagons. They had destroyed the bridge over the Vaal river.

Gen. Cronje Has Good Cover.

London, Feb. 26—The Times publishes the following from Paardeburg, dated Feb. 21:

"General Cronje's forces have good cover from the British artillery fire and have considerable stores of provisions."

Boers Hold Colenso Kopjes.

Manchester, Feb. 26—[Special Cablegram]—The Guardin prints the following from Colenso: "The Boers are practically again holding the Colenso hills. Their former abandonment of Colenso Ridges meant nothing, being necessitated by our capture of Green Hill Our troops are pressing the attack against the difficult position splendidly, knowing this to be the grand relief effort. The kopjes extend in seemingly endless number."

Dr. Leyds Still Has Hope.

Brussels, Feb. 26 —Dr. W. J. Leyds, the Transvaal's European representive, was asked today for his view of the present situation in South Africa.

"Well, what if General Cronje surrenders?" he explained; "there will then be a speedy concentration of the rest of the federal forces. The retreat beyond the Vaal river will not occur immediately. The Orange Free State may easily be defended, especially the northern portion, and in any case we are still confident of ultimate success. with the 100,000 troops which we still have actually in the field."

GENERAL ROBERTS IS ATTACKED

Boers From Natal Lose Heavily in Assault on British Outposts.

London, Feb. 26.—The Marquis of Lansdowne, secretary of state for war, has received the following dispatch from Field Marshal Roberts, commander-in-chief in South Africa:

"Paardeberg, Feb. 24.—Parties of Boers who recently arrived from Natal attacked our outposts in force again yesterday. They lost a good many in killed and wounded, and nearly 100 prisoners, including one commandant and three field cornets. Our casualties were two men killed, thirty wounded and two missing. Among the officers a captain was severely wounded and a captain and two lieutenants slightly wounded.

"On Feb. 21 thirteen men of the King's Own Scottish borderers were wounded. On Feb. 22 a captain was severely wounded. Six men were yesterday wounded by hollow-nosed Mauser bullets. The nickel case is split into four, making the propectile of the most expansive and most explosive nature possible. A wounded Boer was brought to our hospital yesterday with sixty of these bullets in his pockets.

"During the advance to and at Kimberley there were the following casualties: Eight men and two officers killed, eleven officers and thirty-two men wounded, and one officer and forty-two men not accounted for.

"Further reports state that Barkly West was occupied by our troops on Feb. 22. The loyal inhabitants displayed great enthusiasm. The country west of the Cape Town-Kimberley railway is gradually settling down. A detachment has started from De Aar for Britstown. Douglas and Prieska will shortly be visited by our troops:

"Gen. Methuen's account of the admirable manner in which the Kimberley hospital is managed has made me desire to send some of our sick and wounded there."

Kimberley, Feb. 27.—Fifty-five thousand persons, of which number 15,000 were whites, lived in Kimberley during the siege. Ten thousand Kaffirs escaped from the town before it was relieved. Champagne can now be bought, but there is no milk to be had. There are very few signs of privation, but many families are leaving.

MANY LIVES LOST ON NEW ENGLAND COAST

THREE MEN BLOWN FROM A PIER IN A FIERCE WIND.

Wrecks of Twenty eight Ships Show Storm's Work—Captain and Four Children Drown—Liner California Is Fast On the Rocks and Doomed to Destruction.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 26—Many lives were offered up as a sacrifice to old Neptune aloug the gale-swept coast of New England Saturday night and shipping was damaged to the extent of several hundred thousand dollars. Six are known to have perished and it is believed that later reports will seriously increase the list.

The southwesterly gale came on suddenly and with hurricane force, accompanied by sharp flashes of lightning and terrific peals of thunder. It traveled the entire coast, sweeping before it every craft outside safe havens.

Many Ships are Wrecked.

The storm was severest in Narragansett and Boston bays and Portland and Bangor harbors. Reports from these places show that one big ocean steam ship, two barges and at least twenty five sailing vessels were wrecked. When telegraphic communication is re established with other exposed points along the coast the damage will undoubtedly be multiplied.

Down in Narragasett bay a barge foundered and a captain and his four children perished. At Rock Island the storm was of the nature of a cyclone and several men were blown from a pier, one of whom was drowned. Here in Boston harbor two coal barges were wrecked, but the crews were rescued by government life savers

Californian Still on the Rocks

In Portland harbor the Allan line steamer Californian, with twenty one passengers, a crew of seventy-five men and a cargo of grain and merchandise worth $350,000, lies on a ledge a hopeless wreck. Her passengers and most of her crew remained on board all day, but they are in no immediate danger, and when the sea subsides today all will be taken off by tugs. Meantime lifesaving crews are on the watch, prepared to render succor should there be any indication of the big steel vessel breaking up.

But the storm has passed. The rain ceased yesterday morning and the high seas and exceptional high tides, which did much damage everwhere, subsided late in the afternoon. Then came a sharp snow flurry, followed last night by bitter cold weather.

Portland, Me., Feb, 26—[Special Telegram]—The steamship Californian which grounded yesterday on Ram Island Ledge, remains in the same position today. The passengers were taken off this morning.

TELLS A STORY OF CRUELTY.

Elsie Gardner Discharged After Testifying Why She Killed Haas.

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 26.—Cruelty almost impossible of belief, and faithfulness, in spite of it, which was as remarkable, was told in the testimony at the hearing of Elsie Gardner for the murder on Feb. 11 of her paramour, Thomas Haas, or Gardner, formerly of Shakersee, Minn., and the woman was dismissed. Since the night she stabbed Haas fatally in the abdomen with a butcher knife she has refused to talk, saying she would tell the story when court "set." When she was put on the stand she told of having three times been beaten to unconsciousness by Haas, with whom she had lived eleven years, having come from St. Paul. He had kicked her, pounded her, horse-whipped her, wrenched her back and arms and legs, she said, and her testimony was corroborated. Haas had threatened to beat her again on the night of the tragedy, and started toward her with a chair. She seized the knife, the only weapon at hand, and struck at Haas. When Justice Ferries discharged her from custody the crowd in the courtroom broke into cheers.

PLEA FOR "SAPHO" FROM THE PULPIT

DR. PENTECOST SAYS LAW CAN NOT CHECK HUMAN DESIRES

New York Preacher Thinks Men Will Do As They Please Restriction or No Restriction—Attempt to Suppress Nethersole Is Ill-Advised and Foolish.

New York, Feb. 26—"The attempted suppression of the play 'Sapho' by legal means, is ill advised, impolite, uncalled for, and foolish. I don't believe any good can come from the movement. Let it go on undisturbed—this or any other play of a similar character. Interference with the amusements of the people by the process of law is wrong."

The Rev. Dr. Hugo O. Pentecost made the above declaration in his address before the Unity congregation at Mott Memorial Hall yesterday morning. The subject of his discourse was "Immoral Amusements."

The announcement that the minister would discuss Olga Nethersole's interpretation of Daudet's book, served to fill the hall to its utmost capacity.

Against All Legal Interference

"I would not suppress by law drinking places or gambling houses," said the preacher, "nor would I suppress opium dens by the same process. I believe that the entire matter of these places should be taken out of the hands of the law. I firmly believe that no good can possibly come from legal interference with men's desires and amusements.

"There is but one result that can come from legal interference. The law does not serve to put a stop to the actions of men. Men who wish to gamble, to drink or to smoke opium will do so law or no law. The person who disputes this fact is either ignorant or unthinking. The one positive thing that the laws do accomplish in the attempted interference with men's desires is to corrupt the police force. That is sure. A fine heading for all the laws of this character would be, 'Laws for the Corruption of the Police.'"

To Do Just as They Please.

"The Rev. Dr Parkhurst who knows more about the effect of these laws than any living man has demonstrated time and again that they are totally ineffective. These laws have reduced the entire police force with, of course, the usual exceptions, to a gang of criminals.

"The only way to develop the character of a person or of a community is to allow that person or that community to do just as it pleases.

"I believe the government is transcending its functions when it tries to govern the morals of the people. I believe that the phrase, 'Lead me not into temptation' in the Lord's prayer is wrong. I would not pray especially to be led into temptation, but without temptations how may a man's character be developed?"

PUT UP COTS AT KANSAS CITY

Hotel Men Will Reap a Harvest From Democratic Convention

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 26—Visitors to Kansas City during the week of the democratic national convention will be compelled to pay fancy prices for accommodations. The hotels have an understanding and will insist on their maximum price for each guest, with from four to six guests in a room. This maximum price at the three leading hotels, the Baltimore, the Midland, and the Coates, is $6 a day.

It is probable that there will be an increase in the restaurant and bar prices. It has been proposed by the managers of one of the minor hotels that the hotel men and the keepers of the better class of saloons get together and agree to serve no drink whether it be the rarest Scotch liquor or beer for less than 25 cents.

So far as the restaurants are concerned, it is almost a foregone conclusion that they will stick their prices up. The three leading hotels expect their rooms to net them $30 a day during convention week.

FIND MORE GOLD AT CAPE NOME

Latest News Says It Is the Richest Belt Ever Discovered.

Tacoma, Wash., Feb. 26.—Cape Nome news to Dec. 15 has been received here by the steamer Humboldt. The major portion of it was brought by Carl Van Kobelsdorff and Charles D. Campbell, who left Nome on Dec. 10, making the remarkable trip of 1,300 miles to Dawson in fifty-seven days, including rests of six days. News from Cape Nome indicates that further winter discoveries prove that that district is undoubtedly the richest gold belt ever discovered. In several districts men are at work this winter piling up big dumps of gold-bearing sand and gravel which will be washed out as soon as spring thaw comes. Numerous nuggets have been found, ranging in value from $36 to $480. The greatest activity prevails in the Bonanza district adjacent to Nome City. Beyond Cape York the arctic region has been laid out. Rich pay has been found there, and it is certain that hundreds of prospectors will go there from Nome early next summer. The beach is supposed to be rich as far north as Port Clarence. There are places, however, where it will pay only for hydraulic operations.

CHOOSING THE DELEGATES

Chairman Treat on the Elections to State Convention.

Eau Claire, Wis., Feb. 26—Chairman Treat of the Republican State Central committee says in reply to inquiries in regard to any county having more than one Assembly district that it is recommended that the chairman of the county committee and the chairman of the several Assembly District committee join in a call and have practically but one convention to elect delegates to the state convention, and that at such convention the delegates can meet by assembly districts to perform the duty of electing delegates to Milwaukee for the respective districts and can also sit together as a county convention. This would greatly simplify matters, especially if it should be found possible to combine in what would be practically one convention the work of choosing delegates to congressional as well as the state convention.

Loubet's Candidate Wins.

Paris, Feb. 26.—The election Sunday in the department of Ardeche resulted in a victory for the government candidate, despite the fact that Gen. Voison, for whom all the royalists, nationalists and anti-semites had voted, ran against him. The fact that the successful candidate got 7,000 votes and his opponent 2,000 is additional evidence of the real strength of the government.

USE CAUCUS WHIP TO PASS THE BILL

Republican Majority Plan to Force Through the Porto Rican Bill

WILL REDUCE TARIFF

Will Also Limit the Provisions Of the Bill to Two Years Or Less

Caucus to Be Held Tonight—Deadlock On the Bill in the House Continues—Republicans Vainly Endeavor to Reach a Compromise—Would Increase the Prices on Wheat, Potatoes, Lumber and Other Commodities—Forced to Patronize United States Market.

Washington, Feb. 26—[Special Telegram]—The program of the republican majority on the Porto Rican bill now is to force through at tonight's caucus amendments to the pending bill limiting its provisions to two years or less in the discretion of the president and reducing the tariff from 25 per cent to 20 or 15 per cent.

Chances of the Bill Are Poor

Washington, Feb. 26—This morning the chances of the Porto Rican tariff bill going through the house without radical amendment are very poor. If the dissenting Republicans keep their nerve they will beat the scheme.

The favorite plan of the ways and means committee, as developed in yesterday's conferences, is to limit the operation of the proposed tariff to two years—anything to get them out of their present most unpleasant predicement. A few of the weak-kneed Republican dissenters say they will accept this, but the majority of them will have none of it.

The committee of ten appointed as a result of Saturday night's house conference was in session a large part of yesterday and at midnight was still in session without having reached an acceptable compromise on which all Republicans could unite.

Proposed Tariff On Porto Rico.

There are some pleasant possibilities in store for the people of Porto Rico if the tariff bill is passed as proposed by the ways and means committee of the house in opposition to the president's recommendations. This measure levies a tax of 25 per cent of the rates imposed by the Dingley bill.

This means the poor householder in San Juan or Ponce is to be taxed 6¼ cents per bushel on wheat and potatoes after paying heavy freight rates, from which the poor man in New York or Chicago is exempt. He will have to pay 50 cents per thousand feet extra for the lumber of which he builds his house, and 3¾ per cent. additional on the price of the chairs and tables he puts into it. He will have to pay 1½ cents a pound extra for butter, 5 cents a bushel extra on corn meal, and 3¾ cents on corn and oats.

Rates That Will be Imposed

During the rainy season his umbrella will cost 12½ per cent more and he will have to pay 10 per cent more for his hats and 6¼ per cent more for his shoes than he would in Chicago, aside from freight charges. Cotton clothes worth say $10 under free trade with the United States, will cost him $11.25. Ingrain carpet will be taxed 5½ cents a square yard and 10 per cent of the cost price besides.

For instance, a suit of cotton clothes costs $10 in Liverpool. The American manufacturer is given a tariff production of 50 per cent. He marks his price up to $15, competition being then stopped by freight rates, then the Porto Rican is expected to pay 25 per cent of the Dingley rate, not on the suit he might import from Liverpool, but on that bought in Boston, so that his suit costs him $16.72, which is $6.72 more than it costs him in Liverpool, and actually $1.72 more than he could import it direct from England, paying the full Dingley rate.

Week in Congress.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The time of the senate during the present week will be divided between the questions of the finances, the government policy toward the insular possessions and the seating of Senator Quay upon the nomination of the governor of Pennsylvania.

The Hawaiian bill remains the unfinished business subject to removal at any time by the Quay resolution and also by the conference report upon the currency bill.

Senator Aldrich has given notice that he will make a speech in explanation of the currency bill agreement on Wednesday and that he will call it up the next day (Thursday) and then ask final action upon it.

There will be several speeches during the week on the Quay resolution and there is a probability of reaching a vote on it the latter part of the week.

JUMPED AND STRUCK RAILWAY MILE POST

DEATH OF CLIFFORD ELLIS, A BROOKLYN YOUNG MAN.

Fatal Attempt to Leave a Train Running Fifty Miles an Hour—Both Legs Broken and Horribly Bruised—Farmers' Institute Held at Evansville Friday and Saturday.

Evansville, Wis., Feb. 25—Clifford Ellis, son of Druggist A. G. Ellis of Brooklyn, died Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock. Last Tuesday night the U. U. W. boys gave an entertainment in this city, and Clifford wishing to attend the entertainment came down here on the evening passenger. At the close of the entertainment he boarded the midnight fast mail train, and as this train does not stop at Brooklyn, he jumped from the train (going at the rate of fifty miles an hour) just before it reached Brooklyn. As he jumped he struck the mile post, and it is believed he lay unconscious for a couple of hours. When he came to his cries for help aroused, O. M. Case, a farmer residing near Brooklyn, who with other assistance, went to the boys aid. They found him in a terrible condition and took him immediately to Brooklyn, where medical aid was summoned: also Dr. Smith, Jr., from this city was called.

Both limbs were broken below the knees; one knee was badly jammed, and his face was terribly cut, besides other injuries. About noon Friday he became unconscious and remained in that state until death came.

Mr. Ellis was an exceedingly bright young man of about 21 years, beloved by all who knew him and his many friends both in Brooklyn and in this city cannot imagine whatever possessed him to do such as act.

He expected to go to Milwaukee this spring to study pharmacy. He leaves a father and little brother about 13 years of age, besides an aged grandmother and a host of friends The funeral services will be held in Brooklyn Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Farmers' Institute held in this city Friday and Saturday was a success, Magee's opera house was crowded during every session. The papers were exceedingly interesting. Those from out of town who assisted were C. E. Matheson and Prof. F. H. King of Madison, and Prof. A. H. Sholtz of Stoughton, the latter discussing "Boer and Briton in South Africa."

The seminary students entertained the people Friday evening with a musical and literary program, while the High school students rendered their program Saturday evening. Both schools are deserving of much praise.

IN MEMORY OF THE LATE JUDGE JOHN R. BENNETT

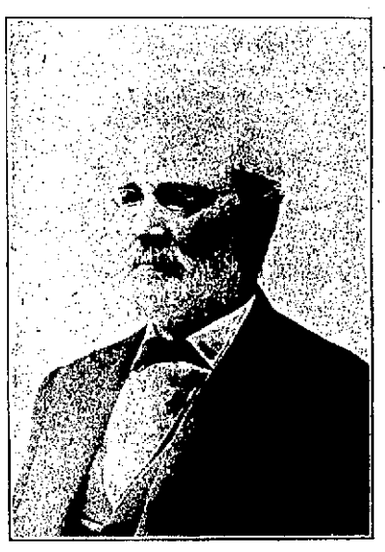

Memorial Address Presented and Spread Upon the Records of the Supreme Court By B. B. Eldredge of Janesville.

The following memorial on the late Judge John R. Bennett was presented to the supreme court by B. B. Eldredge, of Janesville:

May it please the Court:—We have been commissioned to present to the court a memorial of the life, character and service of John R. Bennett, late judge of the Twelfth Judicial circuit of the state of Wisconsin.

We undertake the discharge of this sad duty, doubting our ability to portray his diversified mental characteristics and vigorous individuality.

The subject of this commemorative sketch was born in Rodman, Jefferson county, New York, on the first day of November, 1820; his father and mother were natives of the state of Connecticut, being descended in direct line from Puritans settled in that part of our country at an early date; his parents thoroughly imbued with the true American characteristic spirit of liberty and progression, early migrated to and settled in Jefferson county, New York, an unbroken and sparsely settled region, where the boyhood of our subject was largely spent in assisting his parents to clear a farm and make a home at the place of his nativity, and where he throve to noble manhood revering justice and loving liberty.

Having attained proficiency in the branches of learning taught in the district schools of his native town, he began a higher grade of student life at the Black River Literary and Religious Institute of Watertown, New York, where he qualified himself for teaching, "at which he was engaged at intervals during several years." In 1841 he entered upon the study of law under the supervision of W. W. Wager, Esq., at Brownville, New York, for a brief period, and thereafter continued such study at Sackett's Harbor, New York, under the direction of D. N. Burnham, Esq., until May, 1843, when he was admitted to practice in the courts of New York.

Being endowed with rare mental qualities, a retentive memory and high conception of the noble and beautiful in literature, he ceased not during his many years to enrich his mind by study and reflection; and his erudition, though not of the universally order, became nevertheless remarkable. In his public utterance upon the rostrum or at the bar his rhetoric was just and forceable, didactic rather than ornate; and in manner by argument he sought to convince and satisfy, rather than move his audience by sudden impulse. And on such occasions he drew freely on the best authors on positive science and in literature for materials to solve the problem under consideration, and of paradigms to attract and rivet the attention of the most obdurate.

In the family circle he was a gentle moving spirit and guide; in the social circle of relatives and most intimate friends he was a welcome and inspiring element, and at the most promiscuous assemblage, where kindly mirth, playful sallies of wit and repartee are possible, he was at his best, and greatly admired.

His love of the fine arts, in its widest sense, and all athletic and field sports, were a distinct feature of his individuality, which no personal deprivation would induce him to forego.

On the 28th of November, 1844, at Hounsfield, New York, John R. Bennett married Elsie L. Holloway, a woman of gentle manners and discriminating mind, and this happy nuptial band continued for nearly fifty years, when severed by the decease of Mrs. Bennett on the 28th day of May, 1893, at her home in Janesville, Wisconsin.

In October, 1848, Mr. Bennett came to Wisconsin, and located at Janesville, in the practice of his chosen profession. His ability and geniality soon opened the doors and hearts of thousands at his adopted western home, and they installed him in their confidence and love, which he maintained to the last. And by his discriminating and analytic powers and capacity to combine his reflections and conclusions in action and language, he took high rank as a trial lawyer and advocate, which facts were recognized throughout the state.

In 1852 he was elected district attorney for Rock county, Wisconsin, and served in that capacity during two consecutive terms with rare ability, fidelity and integrity; the criminal, whether of high or low estate, were alike to him as respects the meting of justice to each. During this latter period he maintained his former clientage, and his practice until he was appointed judge of the Twelfth Judicial Circuit of the state of Wisconsin, to succeed the lamented Judge Harmon S. Conger. After having been elected to that office in April 1882; re-elected in April, 1888, and again in April, 1894, and in truth it may be said of him that he died in the discharge of the duties of this responsible trust.

He came to the bench in the maturity and strength of his manhood, bringing to the work devolved upon him, and to the fulfillment of the great confidence reposed in him by an appreciative, considerate and generous people, high purpose and wealth of knowledge. And he assumed the dispatch of the duties and great responsibilities of the position as the consummation of his life ambition, and with courage and persistent assiduity met every obstacle. In many respects he was an ideal judge. He was an enemy to trickery, and technicality met with no favor when urged to evade or retard justice. He was the friend and guide, so to speak, of the young practitioner, of law, and the equal and co-worker of the more astute. After the statement of a case before him his versatility and retentive memory enabled him during the progress of the trial or hearing to keep on a level with every question raised and the many sidedness of each proposition presented; his rulings were concise and comprehensive, and generally just, and his instructions and charges were models of clearness and power. And his native courtesy and love of judicial fairness and open-handed justice to fullness, moved and guided him in his work at the bar and upon the bench.

Judge John R. Bennett, with his mind aflame to the last, died at his home in Janesville, Wisconsin, on the ninth day of June, 1899, and the members of the bar were stricken with grief as they had suffered a personal loss.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. HON. IRA BRADFORD A ROCK COUNTY MAN

He Was Born in the Town of Fulton and Once Made Janesville His Home.

Many Rock county people will be interested to know that Hon. Ira B. Bradford, of Augusta, who is one of the leading candidates for the republican nomination for governor, is a Rock county man. Mr. Bradford was born in the Town of Fulton, on June 24, 1851. His parents were of New Hampshire stock descendants of Governor William Bradford. Soon after Ira was born the family returned to New Hampshire, where Ira was raised and educated, working at the carpenter trade when he was not in school. The next few years years of his life were equally divided between teaching school and studying law. In February, 1873, Mr. Bradford come to Janesville remaining here until the following March, when he was admitted to the bar at Monroe. He at once settled in Augusta, which city has since been his home.

Mr. Bradford has always been a republican. He was elected a member of the assembly in 1880 and again in 1881, at which session he was elected speaker. He was also elected the first mayor of Augusta.

For some years past Mr. Bradford has devoted himself principally to farming.

Mr. Bradford is rather under the medium height, and wears a beard that has brought him the name of "a pocket edition of Uncle Sam." He is well known in this vicinity. School Commissioner S. C. Burnham is his uncle.

THE SITUATION IN CAPE COLONY.

Honeycombed With Pro-Boer Sympathizers of High and Low Degree.

BY ANDREW DOWNS.

Although Cape Colony is British territory, its colonists are by no means unanimous in loyalty to the imperial government. As a matter of fact, Cape Colony is honeycombed with disloyalty. Every other man is a Boer sympathizer. Cape Town itself is the headquarters of a large number of Boer secret service agents who are, to use a less diplomatic term, spies.

A recent dispatch from there says that every movement of the British forces at this base is speedily known in Pretoria. Just what means the Boers have of making such quick communication of news is not known, but the fact remains that the Boers are singularly well informed, while the British are kept in the dark as to the affairs of the Boers.

It is difficult for us to realize at this distance the exact state of affairs in Cape Colony. It must be remembered that more than one-half of the white population of the colony is made up of Dutch. Many of these are descendants of the original Dutch who settled the region and who did not join in the great treks when the clash came with the British. Others are Dutch who have settled there in more recent years, but whose sentiments are anti-British.

Then there are many Cape Colonists who are neither Dutch nor British, but whose fond dream is the establishment of a great South African republic composed of the several states now under British control. Lastly, there are the loyal British.

So you see there is a remarkable mixture of sentiment regarding the war. Some of the people are intensely pro-Boer, some are strictly neutral and some are intensely pro-English. It has been some surprise to the English soldiers to be received, on landing at Cape Town, by huge crowds who looked on their arrival in glum silence broken only by a few cheers and a few groans.

The Cape Colonists are, as a rule, extremely reticent in expressing their views. The war is almost a forbidden subject in public places. An English colonist's best friend and next door neighbor may be a Boer. Both have strong sympathies, and both keep them to themselves. It is only when little knots of friends who share sentiments in common get together that there is free discussion about the war.

The English have been doing their best to conceal this condition of affairs, but now and then the truth is made public. The Pall Mall Gazette printed the other day a letter from a correspondent in which it was stated that Cape Colony was "a seething mass of discontent, and if a Boer commando should touch any district in the colony that district would join the Boers almost in a body." It is hardly necessary to say that this information could not have been sent by cable. It would have been suppressed by the censor.

The position taken by the Afrikander party, which is a strong element in Cape Colony politics, is expressed in the demand that England give up the war and make peace with the Boers at the best terms she may. It also demands the resignation of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain. Of course this is pro-Boer talk, but the Afrikanders pretend no loyalty to England.

The leader of the Afrikander Bond is Jan Hendrick Hofmeyer. He has been called the Dick Croker of Cape Colony. He sat for some years in the Cape house of assembly as a member of the stellenbosch and in 1881 became a member of the executive council.

To the colonial conferences of 1887 and 1894 he was an all powerful delegate and invariably carried his point whenever he stood up to lead. During the past years he has greatly increased his authority over his political subjects, who stand ready to do or die for him.

Another pro-Boer member of the Cape parliament is J. W. Sauer, the Dutch statesman who has been openly accused of disloyalty to the British crown. He is a man of many distinctions and a power in the land. He is one of the few subjects of the queen who have ever had offered to them and have refused the honor of knighthood.

He comes by right of birth to his sympathies for the struggling burghers, for his father was a magistrate in the Orange Free State. He has been a member of the Cape Town parliament for more than 25 years. He served as colonial secretary in the government of Cecil Rhodes and was thereafter for some years the leader of the opposition.

The Tripler Liquid Air Company absolutely controls all the inventions, rights and appliances of Charles E. Tripler for the manufacture and utilization of liquid air. The priority and value of these rights constitute A MONOPOLY OF THE FIELD, since no other patents of practical utility have ever been granted.

THE COMPANY HAS A FACTORY IN OPERATION IN NEW YORK CITY, WHERE LIQUID AIR IS BEING MANUFACTURED IN COMMERCIAL QUANTITIES, AND IT IS BEING USED DAILY IN LEADING HOSPITALS AND FOR MOTIVE POWER.

NO LONGER AN EXPERIMENT.

Prof. Tripler's discovery—liquid air—has therefore passed the experimental stage and can now be profitably used everywhere for refrigeration and motive power, as well as in numerous other important lines. Its utility and practicability have been demonstrated beyond question.

Charles E. Tripler, President of this Company, is the inventor of the only practical devices for the production and utilization of liquid air on a commercial scale. He is not connected, directly or indirectly, with any other company, and is to liquid air what Thomas A. Edison is to electricity.

PRACTICAL USES.

The cost of refrigeration in the United States is estimated at over $150.000.000 annually: by the use of liquid air a saving of over one-half is assured.

As a simple instance, in the shipment of fruit from California, 55 gallons (500 lbs.) of liquid air per car will do the work of 5 tons of ice, with dry air instead of moist air, and will save more than $190 per car in ice and its freight.

This means over a million dollars profit annually, and is but a very small fraction of the immense refrigeration and cold storage business of the country, as well as that of ocean steamships.

For motive power on land and sea, liquid air will produce as great a percentage of saving and relatively greater profits than for refrigeration.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.

The directors now offer to investors one hundred thousand (100,000) shares of stock at Five Dollars ($5.00) per share for the purpose of enlarging and equipping our present overburdened plant.

This is the first and only stock of this company which has ever been offered for sale to the public. The stock is full paid and non-assessable, and the stockholders are free from all liability.

The holders of stock in this, the parent company, will share in the profits resulting from the operations of the various foreign or local sub-companies, a large portion of the stock of which will be held by this company.

ITS PROSPECTS.

GOOD FINANCIERS BELIEVE THAT THIS STOCK WILL SOON HAVE A CASH VALUE OF MANY TIMES ITS PRESENT PRICE; AND THAT THE EARNING AND DIVIDEND PAYING CAPACITY OF THIS ENTERPRISE WILL BE EQUAL TO THAT OF THE GREATEST DISCOVERIES HERETOFORE GIVEN TO THE WORLD.

THE PERSONNEL OF THE DIRECTORY ASSURES AN EFFICIENT AND ECONOMICAL MANAGEMENT.

RICHARD OLNEY'S VIEWS.

Richard Olney, secretary of state under President Cleveland, has always been considered one of the ablest exponents of democracy, and his views on pending questions are of interest. They are found in the Atlantic Monthly for March in an article written by Mr. Olney on the subject "The Growth of Our Foreign Policy." He speaks of the duty of the United States to the people of the earth, and declares that this country must drop its past policy and take its place with the great powers of the world. The Spanish war, he contends, was the first step taken in this direction, and placed the United States in the station in which we belonged.

He contends that Cuba is already ours and that the island should remain under American control. The position taken by congress is held to be false, and he argues that the island is now and should remain American territory.

While he does not think we should have taken the Philippines, he argues that now that we have them, they must be retained until their future becomes more settled.

The new policy, he says, will not weaken the principle of the Monroe doctrine, which principle he says "will no doubt hold good and be as firmly asserted in the future as in the past," as it "requires of Europe to abstain from doing in America nothing more than we should and must abstain from doing in Europe."

In conclusion Mr. Olney treats of the "inevitable change" that has been brought about by the march of time, as follows:

"Though historians will probably assign the abandonment of the isolation policy of the United States to the time when this country and Spain went to war over Cuba, and though the abandonment may have been precipitated by that contest, the change was inevitable, had long been preparing, and could not have been long delayed. The American people were fast opening their eyes to the fact that they were one of the foremost powers of the earth and should play a commensurately great part in its affairs.

"In short, when our troubles with Spain came to a head, it had, it is believed, already dawned upon the American mind that the international policy suitable to our infancy and our weakness was unworthy of our maturity and our strength; that the traditional rules regulating our relations to Europe, almost a necessity of conditions prevailing a century ago, were inapplicable to the changed conditions of the present day; and that both duty and interest required us to take our true position in the European family, and to both reap all the advantages and assume all the burdens incident to that position. Therefore, while the Spanish war of 1898 is synchronous with the abandonment of its isolation policy by the United States, it was not the cause of such abandonment and at the most hastened it by an inconsiderable period."

This article, being written by so prominent a member of the democratic party will create widespread interest. It differs diametrically with the position taken by William J. Bryan and other so called "anti-imperialists," and the arguments advanced by Mr. Olney cannot be passed off, by Bryan and his followers, with the statement that they are simply "republican campaign canards."

MR. COOPER'S BILL.

Congressman Cooper's chairman of the Insular Committee, has introduced a bill to provide a government for Porto Rico. It follows in the main the bill on that subject by Senator Foraker with more detailed statement of the constitutional guarantees against expost facto laws for free speech, free religion, etc. The bill fixes the capitol at San Juan, establishes a governor and staff of island officials, a legislative branch of two houses and a judicial system, similar to the general provisions of the Foraker bill with additional restrictions on the legislative power and procedure. The changes are said to result in a much better system than was provided in the Foraker bill. The measure is not a "committee bill" but was drawn and introduced on Mr. Cooper's individual responsibility.

Mr. Olney virtually says, "If I were president, I should do exactly as Mr. McKinley is doing."—a pretty compliment, verily, for a democratic ex-secretary of state to pay a republican president.

Richard Olney has shattered any hopes of a presidential nomination on the democratic ticket, because the crowd that is in the saddle will not like his expansion ideas, but he has strengthened himself with the people, and when the Democratic party escapes from the Populist kidnappers—if it ever does—Mr. Olney will still be, as he was up to the time of the kidnapping, one of the foremost men in the faith.

Milwaukee business men are working for better railway facilities, and it is likely that another line will soon enter the Cream City. The move is a wise one and it is to be hoped that the plan will be carried out. No city can have too many railroads, and each new line brings substantial business benefits to the country that it passes through.

Kansas City hotel men propose to charge $6 each for baths during the democratic national convention. It must be that their motto is "small sales necessitate large profits."

General Earl M. Rogers, of Viroqua, is in the field for the Republican nomination for governor, and will have, it is said, a solid delegation from Vernon county, at least, at the state convention.

Kansas City hotel people are now working on the true Bryan theory—legislating inflated values upon comparitively valueless products.

Chicago now boasts of "a lady hold-up"—one that works exclusively upon strangers, and outside of the home circle.

FEATHER BEDS AGAIN.

Great Changes In the Theory and Practice of Bedmaking.

"The science and practice of bedmaking have undergone a radical change in the past few years. In newly done over and decorated houses nothing could be more impressive, more luxurious and more radical in their departure from the hitherto accepted laws of hygiene than the new beds." So says the New York Sun, which adds a few details as follows:

The model just now in the houses where antique mahogany sweeps everything before it is the Georgian bed. Three could sleep, with an abundance of stretching room, in the area inclosed by the four massive carved posts of one of these big couches, and three mattresses are required to bring the sleeping platform up to the required height. One is of hair, one of cotton, and in winter on top of these reposes a mighty tick, stuffed full of the best white goose feathers. When these requirements are fulfilled, the full fledged Georgian bed is dressed with great attention to detail and elegance. Old brocade edged with bullion fringe is used for the hangings and counterpane that sweep the floor, and the coat of arms of the owner is carved on the headboard of the couch.

It is not everybody who can lay hands on a genuine carved Georgian bed or dress it in antique brocade, but even with the modern brass and iron bed curtains about the head and big feather stuffed mattresses for winter use are no longer a mere fashion, but are a general custom. For half a century the feather bed has been looked upon very coldly by experts in hygiene, but recently, both with regard to the hangings and the feather mattress, a change of heart has come, and delicate, nervous, neuralgic, rheumatic women, and particularly elderly persons and those afflicted with insomnia, have been recommended to take the feather bed cure in the winter. Queen Victoria is one of the shining proofs of the efficacy of the feather bed, for where she goes a big tick full of feathers in its leather traveling jacket goes, too, and always the curtains are drawn about the head of the bed to shut off any drafts. Queen Victoria and her doctors believe that the proper way to sleep in winter is in a cold room luxuriously lapped in a nest of feathers that preserves all the heat of the body and necessitates in the coldest weather a covering of only one pair of blankets and a down quilt. The modern bed, so called hygienic, requires more heavy covering than a pair of tired shoulders can stand, and the hair mattress constantly dissipates the human heat instead of conserving it, besides drawing away that priceless force, human electricity; at least, that is what advocates of the feather bed say.

All this drain the feathers prevent, and the easily yielding surface they present permits a perfect relaxation of the muscles that can never be gained on a bed of even the best hair. With the coming of the eighteenth century type of English bed the feather mattress was introduced, and now there are numbers of women who have not only learned their virtues, but, like the queen of England, travel about with their beds done up in leather cases. Some of the rheumatics and sufferers from cold feet have pronounced themselves free from their afflictions when luxuriating among the feathers.

Feather beds are coming into use as well in nurseries, and, though for children the Georgian four poster is not yet the fashion, the gayest beds are made to chime in with the schemes of nursery decoration.

Costly Litigation Over Ten Trees.

Two Pennsylvania farmers have been at war for eight years over ten trees worth $19. The case is not yet settled, but the costs already amount to $1,148.75. In addition, there are the fees of five lawyers. One of the lawyers is under treatment for mental exhaustion. Culver claims that the trees Hazlett cut down were on his land, but the dividing line between their farms is in dispute, its settlement depending upon a sixty-year-old deed.

CITY SERVED PAPERS TODAY

Chief Hogan served papers on several local residents this morning to appear before the council meeting next Monday evening when the question in reference to City Engineer Perry F. Brown is taken up. Among those on whom papers were served today were Charles Potter, James A. Fathers, John Watson, George Yahn and J. H. Watson. The papers were served by the city and the question promises to be a warm one.

PLAN LARGE BENEFIT DANCE

Meeting Called Yesterday by Ladies Interested in Railway Trainmen.

The mothers, wives and sisters of the members of Railway Trainmen called a meeting at Engineers' hall, over Richter's grocery store, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The object of the meeting was to talk over the giving of a large benefit dance some time next month. The proceeds are to be distributed among several ex employes of the road in this locality who are injured or unable to work.

Domesticated Ostriches in Africa.

Ostriches have only recently been domesticated in South Africa. Only eighty were in captivity in 1865; ten years later there were 21,751 being cared for in Cape Colony, and in 1897, 237,966. The true wild bird still exists north of the Vaal and Orange river, but is eagerly hunted for its feathers, which demand a higher price than those of the domesticated brethren.

An Engineering Triumph.

One of the latest triumphs in the engineering world consists in the construction, shipment by steamer and subsequent transfer to railway transportation of a steamer of 4,200 tons' displacement, which was finally put afloat in Lake Baikal, Siberia, not less than 5,000 miles from St. Petersburg.

The Black Cat Fad.

The latest idea in the way of a porte-bonheur is to carry a tiny puss of wondrous goldsmith's work swinging as a pendant from the end of your lorgnette chain. The cat is made of black enamel upon metal. Its eyes have a metallic green gleam. Are they not tiny cat's-eyes? The sapient puss wears a collar of brilliants set close about her neck. This it seems, is the very "latest."

Men Who Pay Their Bills.

The credit man in one of the large department stores in New York was asked what class of customers was most trustworthy. "Army and navy people can have all the credit they wish, and no questions asked," was his reply. "The standard of business morality in the army and navy is positive assurance that we will get our money."

EVERYBODY reads our "want" ads. Here's a hint, Mr. Business Man. They are cheap and good.

GEORGE M'COURT FOUND NOT GUILTY

BROUGHT TO JANESVILLE FOR SAFE KEEPING.

Mob Threatened to Hang Him—Cared For By Sheriff Appleby—Tried On Saturday Before Judge B. F. Dunwiddie of This City—Charge Was Murder.

Before Judge B. F Dunwiddie of this city, at Jefferson on Saturday, a jury, after being out thirty minutes, brought in a verdict acquitting George McCourt of alleged murder The case is of special local interest, as McCourt at the time of his arrest was brought to Janesville and lodged in jail here, to prevent him being lynched at the hands of a Jefferson county mob.

The jury found George McCourt of the town of Lake Mills, not guilty of murdering John Roehl.

The trouble for which McCourt was tried grew out of putting a fence across a right-of way. For a long time there had been trouble between the two families over this right of-way. It seems that McCourt was using the ground while hauling some hay. He was cutting up the sod and spoiling the grass.

The Roehls had placed some rails on the ground to prevent McCourt from driving over it. The morning of March 11 McCourt went after some hay. The Roehl boys, John, aged 21, and his brother, aged 17, were cutting wood near by. When McCourt saw the rails on the ground he got off the load of hay to remove the rails, when the oldest of the boys stepped up to prevent him from doing so.

This incensed McCourt so that he struck John Roehl over the head with the pitchfork he had in his hand. The younger brother then came to assist the other, when McCourt laid him out with the pitchfork. Just one week later John Roehl, the oldest of the two boys, died from the injuries received. The young er boy lingered for a long time between life and death—his mind being affected, and it was thought would remain so. but finally he recovered.

MRS. BETSEY LEWIS DIES OF PARALYSIS

Stricken on Sunday and Died This Morning—Mother of S. B. and F. F. Lewis.

Mrs. Betsey L. B. Lewis, mother of S. B. and F. F. Lewis of this city, was stricken with paralysis early Sunday morning and died at 10 o'clock today at the home of her son, S. B. Lewis, 351 Court street.

Mrs. Lewis was born at Kingsville, Ohio, March 29, 1819, and was the second of nine daughters born to Deacon Stephen and Lucia Smith Barrett, who with their children comprised more than half of the charter membership of the Baptist church, organized in the town of Turtle about the year 1839.

She was married to Edward F. Lewis in Beloit in 1841. Soon afterwards they moved to Columbia county, to the township that was afterwards organized under the name of Lewiston. She passed through the experiences of a pioneer life, and shared with her husband the responsibilities of active life both in public and private stations, Since the death of her husband in 1885 she has made her home with her children and moved to Janesville in 1888. Hers has been a conscientious, active life, full of the spirit of service to others. She is the last but one of her father's family. Her surviving children are Stephen B. Lewis, Franklin F. Lewis and William L. Lewis all residents of this city.

The funeral services will occur at 8:30 Wednesday morning at the residence of her son, Stephen B. Lewis, 351 Court street. The remains will be taken to Portage on the 6:40 train to be laid by the side of her husband.

LEAGUE MEMBERS KEEP THE PLEDGE

Many Who Signed the Temperance Cause Over a Year Ago Are Still Faithful to Promises.

One hundred and fifty men were in attendance yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. building, at the joint meeting of the Francis Murphy Temperance League and the Y. M. C. A. A most noticeable feature of the meeting was the presence of several League members who signed the Francis Murphy pledge a year and a half ago.

Prior to that time these men were hard drinkers, and there seemed to be but little hope for them. Since signing the pledge they have done without intoxicating liquor. More than this, they have made of themselves true men in all that the word implies; men that have made their once miserable homes happy. This is the good work that the Murphy League is quietly carrying on in Janesville every day and night in the year.

Among the speakers at the meeting yesterday afternoon were Rev. W. W Woodside, S. M. Smith, Al. Smith, Harry Ashcraft, William Minnick, George West and H. J. Cunningham Twelve new members signed the pledge yesterday. The Francis Murphy League now has a membership of about 600 in Janesville.

ON EVE OF LENT SHROVETIDE DOINGS

SOME STRANGE CELEBRATIONS WHICH MARK THE PERIOD.

"Pancake Tuesday"—Name Given in England to the Day Before Ash Wednesday——Children Go About Singing Rhymes and Demanding Gifts—Maidens Toss the Pancake.

Among the earliest practices attending the establishment of the Christian church was the instituting of a series of anniversaries and holy days, calculated to impress upon the minds of its followers the most important events connected with the life and death of the Christ, and the virtues and good works of the apostles and evangelists.

One of the holy days so established was Shrove Tuesday, occuring this year on February 27. This day immediately preceeds Ash Wednesday, and is the last of a period of days called in the early Church of England, Shrovetide, from the Anglo-Saxon word, "Scrifan"—to shrive, to confess—which in its broadest sense implied confession as an antecedent to absolution.

In their earliest inception, these were days of preparation for the penitential season of Lent, and it was the practice of the people at this time to confess their sins and receive the sacrament, thus qualifying themselves for a more religious observance of the forty days' fast.

Confession at Shrovetide.

In Scotland Shrove Tuesday was known as Easter's e'en and bells were rung at an early hour in both that country and England to remind the people to make confession to and seek forgiveness from the priests.

In the modern discipline of the Roman Catholic church the practice of confession at Shrovetide is still observed.

It was in "Merri England," however, that Shrovetide took on its most boisterous forms, under the name of Pan cake Tuesday. The association of the pancake with Shrove Tuesday is ancient though why they were so allied is not quiet clear. One writer claims that it was a survival of a heathen custom, February having been called by the Saxons Pancake month, because, during its course, pancakes were offered to the sun.

Tossing the Pancake

In many portions of England tossing the pancake is still indulged in on Shrove Tuesday, and rhymes on the pancake bell are sung by the peasants in various parishes.

The children go about singing rhymes and demanding what they consider their legitimate perquisites. In several shires they proclaim themselves incorrigible young hoodlums if their demands are refused. They provide themselves with a stock of broken glass, crockery and other rubbish, and with a captain at their head go from house to house singing:

I'm come a-shroving
For a piece of pancake,
Or a piece of bacon,
Or a little truckle cheese
Of your own making.
If you give me a little I ask you no more,
If you don't give me nothing, I'll rattle your door.

If the good wife sees fit to decline to pay tribute her door is bombarded with all sorts of disabled crockery. This entertaining performance is known as "Lent crocking."

Sometimes the village maidens toss the pancake as a means of penetrating the veil that obscures their matrimonial prospects. An old superstition has it that the first laddie who crosses her threshhold after she has tossed the cake is to be the future sharer of her sunshine and tempests.

C. CARR STOPPED RUNAWAY

Leaped on the Back of the Frenzied Animal This Noon

Charles Carr, 23 Milwaukee avenue, clearly demonstrated that he is made of the right kind of material that goes to constitute a hero. With great presence of mind he stopped a frantic runaway steed attached to a cutter at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The animal went over the Milwaukee street bridge, down River street to Pleasant stree, over the Court street bridge, up Main street and was about to again cross the Milwaukee street bridge when Mr. Carr ran into the street. The horse was on a run dragging an up turned cutter.

In true western style Mr. Carr gave one leap and landed squarely on the animal's back. When once firmly ahold of the lines the hero succeed in stopping the animal thus preventing further damage.

HORSE THROUGH PLATE GLASS WINDOW

Does One Hundred Dollars Damage At Hall, Sayles & Fifield's Jewelry Story Last Evening.

While riding in the country last evening in a sleigh Prof. and Mr. I. E Dennis and Mrs. Wasgatt was accidentally thrown to the ground by the tipping of their sleigh. At the overturning of the sleigh the horse became frightened and made towards Janesville. The accident happened between this city and Emerald Grove. The horse and sleigh is the property of Nelson Bros.

At 7:30 o'clock last evening a frightened horse on attempting to turn the corner of Milwaukee and River streets crashed in the large plate glass window in Hall, Sayles & Fifield jewelry store smashing it into a hundred pieces. The window faces River street and is valued at about $100. It is uninsured. The animal luckily escaped serious injury.

Whether or not this horse is the one driven by Prof. Dennis is a question. The animal driven by Prof. Dennis found its way to Nelson Bros. barn. He is uninjured. The sleigh was even right side up and contained packages. Mrs. Wasgatt was injured about the spine but not seriously. The others luckily escaped injury.

RISING BRITISH STATESMAN.

Undersecretary For War Looked Upon as the Coming Man In England.

BY HOWARD SPENCE SINCLAIR

Mr. George Wyndham, the British statesman who has risen, like a new Hofer, out of the parliamentary crisis, is hailed by many political prophets as the coming man among the Conservatives.

When the present session opened, Mr. Wyndham faced a task which, next to that set before Mr. Chamberlain, was the most thankless and unpleasant that could be imagined. Mr. Chamberlain, who is held responsible for the war, was called upon to defend the course to which he had committed the empire. It was Mr. Wyndham's duty to explain why the war had not been successfully conducted.

As undersecretary for war Mr. Wyndham is the spokesman in the house of commons for the war office, just as his chief, Lord Lansdowne, speaks for the war office in the house of lords.

While Mr. Chamberlain's effort was received with varying comment there was no doubt at all as to the success of Mr. Wyndham's reply. It was a most remarkable speech. It explained the reverses of the British generals in a most plausible way, promised better things for the future and included a patriotic appeal which shook commons to the core. For the moment party differences have been silenced and a big majority called to the support of the government.

For this and other reasons Mr. Wyndham is interesting. He is young. He has the versatility of great genius. He has not only won honors as a statesman, but as a soldier and as a litterateur. His career has begun most brilliantly.

Mr. Wyndham is the only son of the Hon. Percy Wyndham and grandson of Lord Leconfield, whose wife is a sister of Lord Rosebery. As a youth he passed from Eton to Sandhurst and thence into the Coldstream guards, with which regiment he took part in the Suakin campaign against the dervishes, receiving both the English medal and the khedivial star for his services.

He left the army to become private secretary to his close friend, Arthur Balfour, when the latter was in charge of the Irish department, and attracted public attention by the controversial letters which he published in the various papers in defense of his chief and of the latter's policy.

He soon made a mark for himself at Westminster and ere long was appointed to the financial secretaryship of the war department. The period that the Conservatives were out of office—namely, from 1892 to 1895—he devoted to travel in South Africa, and after thoroughly mastering the problem connected with that part of the world attached himself to the fortunes of Cecil Rhodes, acting as the semiofficial representative of the latter in the house of commons.

He likewise championed the cause of the Colossus on the South African parliamentary committee appointed to investigate the Jameson raid and the affairs of the Chartered company. It was while thus representing Mr. Rhodes that he founded The Outlook, one of the brightest of the London weekly papers, which is popularly supposed to be maintained at the expense of Mr. Rhodes, while its policy is directed and controlled by Mr. Wyndham.

A year ago, when Lord Curzon was promoted from the rank of undersecretary of foreign affairs to the viceroyalty of India and Mr. St. John Brodrick was selected to take his place as assistant to Lord Salisbury, George Wyndham was appointed to the undersecretaryship of state for war, until then occupied by Mr. Brodrick.

Mr. Wyndham has distinguished himself in literature by his so called Tudor translation of "Plutarch" and by his edition of Shakespeare's poems.

Married to the widowed Countess Grosvenor, he is today the stepfather of the young Duke of Westminster, who, as the greatest ground landlord in the United Kingdom, commands an immense amount of territorial influence—an influence which naturally, in view of his youth, is calculated still further to increase the importance of his close friend, mentor and stepfather, George Wyndham.

A ROYAL BRIDE.

Princess Sada of Japan, Who Is to Visit Us Next Spring.

There will be a great many brides traveling about on honeymoon tours with their newly acquired husbands in this country next spring. There always are. But probably the bride who will attract the widest interest among Americans will be the Princess Sada of Japan, who is to be married to his imperial highness Yoshihito, the crown prince of the land of the chrysanthemum.

She is a very young princess and very beautiful, as princesses always are. More than this, she will some day be empress of all Japan, and if anything further were needed to make her a personage of interest she will come to us with a wedding trousseau on which more than $1,000,000 has been expended. All recorded extravagances of American money kings or European royalty pale in comparison with this stupendous outlay. Imperial etiquette demands, however, that this young person be garbed on no less lavish a scale.

The Princess Sada was publicly betrothed on Nov. 3 last, on the occasion of a long series of gorgeous fetes, to his imperial highness Yoshihito, the crown prince. Yoshihito is only 20 years old and in rather frail health.

It is well known that a Japanese empress or a princess of the royal house may no longer confine herself to the Japanese dress, but on all formal occasions must appear in European costumes. Therefore the Princess Sada is having not only a profusion of magnificent Japanese costumes fashioned from the costliest stuffs by the cleverest hands that the country affords, but must also be equipped with toilets of Parisian stamp. Many of the finest jewels in the world are being gathered to set off her highness' delicate skin and dusky hair.

HAZARDOUS WINTER TRIP.

Argonauts Start Overland For Cape Nome.

A midwinter trip of 950 miles over the snow and ice of the unknown parts of western Alaska is soon to be begun by a little party which recently sailed from Seattle. The golden beach of Cape Nome is the objective point, and it is hoped by the hardy argonauts that by making the overland trip they will reach there months before the ice locked waters of Bering sea permit of navigation in the spring.

The originator and leader of the expedition is Frank Sanders, a mail carrier. Sanders has collected a large number of letters, for the delivery of which he is to receive $2 each. He has also engaged to guide the party over the trackless wilderness of snow. Although he has never been over the route, he is confident of his ability to make the trip. He has secured the backing of E. O. Lindblom, a Cape Nome magnate, who is one of the party.

The start will be made from Katmaio, where they will be landed from the steamer. The coast line will be followed as closely as possible to avoid the mountainous country, and the drive will be a bleak and lonely one. Travel will be made only in the daytime, the party sleeping in tents at night. Sanders has a light sled about 16 feet long, in which are packed his tent, stove, mail, newspapers and provisions.

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 26.—Ed. Harkinson, manager on the Sioux City plant of the International Packing company of Chicago, has resigned, and it is said that his intention is to reopen the big unoccupied packing plant formerly owned by James F. Booge, Sioux City's original pork packer. He was manager for Swift & Co. at St. Paul until he came to Sioux City last fall.

Dies On His Wedding Tour.

New York, Feb. 26.—Henry Waterhouse, Jr., a merchant and planter of Honolulu, died of pneumonia at the Fifth Avenue hotel. Mr. Waterhouse and his wife were en route to Europe on their wedding tour. They arrived here during the snow and rain storm of last week and Mr. Waterhouse caught a cold which developed into pneumonia.

To Sell Third Avenue Line.

New York, Feb. 26.—The Times says: "The Third Avenue Railroad company, whose directors have for weeks been negotiating with financiers with a view to relieving the road of its monetary difficulties, is to pass quite out of the hands of its present possessors. The creditors of the road are to become its owners. In their hands the resignation of every one of the directors have been virtually placed.

An Advance In Prices.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 26.—As a result of a secret meeting of the Woodenware association, which has been in session here for several days past, it is said there is likely to be another advance in prices of small woodenware articles. The last meeting of the association, held in this city a few months ago, was followed by a 10 per cent advance.

Big Price for a Claim.

Wenona, Ill., Feb. 26.—Four years ago John S. Thompson, the rich banker of Lacon, this county, bought twenty-seven acres of land adjoining Cripple Creek, Colo., merely as a speculation. He sold it Saturday to W. S. Stratton, the millionaire silver miner, for $350,000.

Held for the Silk Robbery.

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 26.—In default of bonds of $3,000 each Thomas Redmond, principal in the silk robbery at Kilduff's store in LaSalle, and Mrs. John Adams, held as a witness and an accessory, were held to the grand jury yesterday afternoon and returned to the jail.

Herron's Exposition Safe.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26.—A letter has been received here from E. M. Webster, a member of Lieut. Herron's Alaska exploring company, in which he reports the safe arrival of the expedition at Fort Gibson on the Yukon river Dec. 11. They were lost for three months and given up for dead.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

The old saying that "a man, who is naked can't give away his shirt," is only another way of saying that you can't give what you haven't got. The man can't give "free medical advice," or any other kind of medical advice who hasn't got a medical education and a certificate to the fact, in the form of a diploma. And in this particular a woman has no more privilege than a man. She can't give medical advice without medical education and medical knowledge.

The offer of free medical advice made by Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has been imitated by so many, who without any medical qualifications claim to give "medical advice" that a word of caution is necessary.

Don't write for medical advice to any one, man or woman, who is not a physician. If they are physicians they will take the title of physicians or doctors so that you may recognize them. If they don't claim that title it is because they dare not, for fear of the law.

Do not forget that there is just as much difference in doctors as in artists. Every little town has its artist who draws and paints. But these "artists" generally paint copies of the works of great artists like Millet. There was only one Millet.

There is only one Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, such as Dr. Pierce presides over. Thousands of women come or write to Dr. Pierce who have found no help at the hands of doctors of lesser skill and narrower experience.

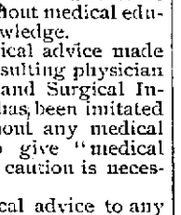

Any sick or ailing woman, suffering from the distressing forms of disease peculiar to women, is invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Such consultations are absolutely private. Each letter is treated as a sacred confidence, and each answer is sent in a plain envelope, bearing no printing upon it.

In this way offensive questions and repulsive examinations may be avoided. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SBARRETTI REACHES HAVANA.

No Demonstration Hostile to the New Catholic Archbishop Occurs.

Havana, Feb. 26.—Mgr. Sbarretti, the new Roman Catholic bishop of Havana, arrived Saturday, and, contrary to all expectations, there was no demonstration. A committee of clergymen met him at the steamer and escorted him to the Templete chapel, which was erected to commemorate the spot where, it is said, Columbus prayed when he arrived in Cuba. There Mgr. Sbarretti donned his canonical robes and proceeded to the cathedral, where he solemnized mass and preached a sermon, in which he did not deal with political affairs, and made no reference to the opposition to him. Archbishop Sbarretti declined to be interviewed by the newspaper men.

"Hundred Oaks" Is Sold.

New York, Feb. 26.—The Paulist fathers of this city have acquired "Hundred Oaks," the family seat of the late Gov. Marks of Tennessee, and will establish there a missionary-house. "Hundred Oaks" is situated near the southern boundary line of Tennessee, in the summer-resort region of that state. It is in sight of the Protestant Episcopal university of the south and of the Mont Eagle summer school, where 6,000 teachers gather each year. The Paulists expect to derive support from the large farm connected with the estate and will devote their energies to the prosecution of mission work in the south and west.

Desertions at Fort Slocum.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Discontent is so great among the recruits at Fort Slocum, on David's island, Long Island sound, that in the last few days nearly 100 desertions have occurred. There are 1,500 recruits at the fort awaiting transportation to the Philippines. They were to have sailed early this month on the transport Sumner, but the failure of the vessel to depart has led many of them to fear that they will not be sent abroad, but kept in this country to garrison the island forts. The recruits says that this has caused the dissatisfaction and is responsible for the desertions.

Terrible Fire Near Paris.

Paris, Feb. 26.—A terrible fire raged all day Sunday in some oil and spirit warehouses at St.-Ouensur-Seine, four miles north of Paris. Help arrived promptly, but it was absolutely unavailing. At 8 o'clock there was an explosion, and barrels, bricks and masses of debris were hurled 200 feet skyward. In the place where the fire broke out 770,000 barrels of alcohol were stored, and there was a large quantity in adjoining cellars. Over 200 persons were badly burned by an explosion of petroleum, which was scattered over the crowd.

Rough Rider Is Missing.

St. Joseph, Mich., Feb. 26.—Aaron Tilley, a member of Gov. Roosevelt's rough riders, having enlisted at Dallas, Texas, from ranch 43, has mysteriously disappeared. Late Saturday afternoon Tilley remarked that he was tired of this world, and it is thought he committed suicide by plunging into Lake Michigan near New Troy, Mich., fifteen miles south of this city.

MEXICAN ARMY IS ROUTED

In a Battle with Yaqui Indians 300 Government Soldiers Are Killed.

THE REDS USE A MAXIM GUN.

Gunboat Democrata Is Disabled and Gen. Torres' Men Desert It—Some Are Drowned in River—Among the Dead Is Geronimo Ascarate.

Potam, Sonora, Mexico, Feb. 26.—Another big battle has been fought by Mexican regulars and Yaqui Indians. The battle raged all day Friday, and the loss on the Mexican side was 300 killed and wounded. Among the dead to convey the news to Torres and participate in the battle.

The Yaqui forces, 4,000 strong, descended from their mountain strongholds with the intention of assaulting Guymas. Gen. Torres was informed in advance of the intention of the hostiles by Geronimo Ascarate, who was in the employ of the Mexican government at Casas Grandes, Mexico, not far from the seat of the Yaqui government at Babispe. Ascarate was sent was sent to convey the news to Torres and participate in the battle.

Gen. Torres concentrated his forces, numbering 6,000 men, at Potam Thursday, and divided them equally. One division was sent up the river with the gunboat Democrata. The other was swung to the northeast for the purpose of flanking the enemy. Thirteen miles from Potam the river force, which was commanded by Torres personally, encountered the Indians, who were well fortified. The soldiers assaulted the works and the gunboat threw shells from the river.

The Indians had procured a Maxim gun from the United States, which is supposed to have been smuggled in with mining machinery, and this was used to good advantage. The Mexicans were repulsed in disorder, and the Indians swept the decks of the Democrata at long range, wreaking havoc. The gun was well handled, and it is said it was in charge of American gunners.

Many Mexicans on the Democrata were killed. Others jumped in the river and were drowned. The Democrata was seriously disabled during the action, and quit the fight, floating down stream.

After being repulsed the Mexican forces reformed five miles away, and renewed the attack. Chances of victory were in favor of the Yaquis, when the second division swept down from the north on the position occupied by the Indians. The Yaquis made a brave stand for several hours, but, seeing that resistance was useless, retreated up the river, taking their wounded with them.

Seventy-three dead warriors were left behind after the Indians had retreated.

Famous Will Contest Settled.

Kokomo, Ind., Feb. 26.—The Bradley will case, on trial in the Clinton Circuit court for ten days, was decided in favor of the plaintiff, the jury holding that the will was genuine, and that the testator, Hiram H. Bradley, was of sound mind. Bradley died six years ago, and no will was found until a few weeks ago, the widow in the meantime holding the estate, valued at $30,000. The widow claimed the will was a forgery, and resisted its probation. The will gives the widow but $10,000. A brother, John Bradley, is allowed $1,000, and the remainder, about $19,000, is devised to the Frankfort commandery, Knights Templar. The will was found among the papers of the late Judge J. C. Suit. The widow, now Mrs. Miller, still believes she is the victim of fraud, and will appeal the case.

Wood Tar Made as in 400 B. C.

Men have improved upon ancient methods of doing many things, but wood tar is prepared just as it was in the fourth century B. C. A bank is chosen and a hole dug, into which the wood is placed, covered with turf. A fire is lighted underneath, and the tar slowly drips into the barrels placed to receive it.

Women at the French Bar.

Paris, Feb. 26.—It is practically certain now that women will be admitted to practice at the French bar. The senate committee has adopted the law already voted by the chamber. Mlle. Chauvin, daughter of the deputy of that name, will be one of the first licensed to practice. She was refused a license some years since by the Court of Appeals.

Hawaiians Not Citizens.

Salt Lake, Utah, Feb. 26.—The application of George William Nain, a Kanaka, for citizenship papers has been denied by Judge Hiles in the District court on the ground that under a decision of the late Territorial Supreme court it had been held that Hawaiians were not entitled to admittance under the United States statutes.

Imports and Exports.

Washington, Feb. 26.—The detailed tables of the January imports and exports have been completed by the treasury bureau of statistics. The total imports were $75,888,987, as against $53,239,771 for the month of January, 1899. The exports last month were $117,595,192, as against $115,591,446 in January, 1899.

PLANS FOR COLLEGE OF WAR.

Secretary Root Reveals Them to the Board.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The plans of Secretary Root, regarding the projected war college, are set out in a letter of instructions addressed by him to the board charged with perfecting the plan. "The main purpose of the proposed war college for the army, to be established in this city," he says, "is in general to further the higher instruction of the service; to develop and organize, in accordance with a coherent and unified system, the existing means of professional education and training, and to serve as a co-ordinate agency through which all means of professional military information shall be at the immediate disposal of the military authorities.

"While it is recognized that the complete organization of the institution must be a matter of gradual growth, it is desired that the preliminary steps toward its organization shall be taken as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

"In the general plan now under consideration of the war department, the army college will be expected to consider and report upon the various questions affecting the welfare and efficiency of the army, including organization, methods of administration, armament, equipment, transportation, supplies, mobilization, concentration, distribution, military preparation, plans of campaign and such other professional matters as may be referred to it."

Makes Attack on Tram Car.

Paris, Feb. 26.—Several French lunatic asylums report that a curious mania is making headway among conscripts. Too much reading of war news mentally unbalances them and they start running amuck under the impression that they are Boers attacking the English. One attacked a tram car in the street, under the impression it was an English armored train.

Overtaxed Nations.

Almost every nation, with the exception of Great Britain and the United States, is overtaxed to meet the expenses of maintaining its army and navy. France runs behind to the amount of $100,000,000. Austria has an annual deficit of $30,000,000, Russia of $50,000,000 and Italy of $30,000,000.—Chicago News.

Sacrificed to Blood Poison.

Those who have never had Blood Poison can not know what a desperate condition it can produce. This terrible disease which the doctors are totally unable to cure, is communicated from one generation to another, inflicting its taint upon countless innocent ones.

Some years ago I was inoculated with poison by a nurse who infected my babe with blood taint. The little one was unequal to the struggle, and its life was yielded up to the fearful poison. For six long years I suffered untold misery. I was covered with sores and ulcers from head to foot, and no language can express my feelings of woe during those long years. I had the best medical treatment. Several physicians successively treated me, but all to no purpose. The mercury and potash seemed to add fuel to the awful flame which was devouring me. I was advised by friends who had seen wonderful cures made by it, to try Swift's Specific. We got two bottles, and I felt hope again revive in my breast—hope for health and happiness again. I improved from the start, and a complete and perfect cure was the result. S. S. S. is the only blood remedy which reaches desperate cases.

Mrs. T. W. Lee,
Montgomery, Ala.

Of the many blood remedies, S. S. S. is the only one which can reach deep-seated, violent cases. It never fails to cure perfectly and permanently the most desperate cases which are beyond the reach of other remedies.

GONE TO AID WOUNDED BOERS

Irish - American Ambulance Corps Which is on Its Way to the Transvaal.

BY ANDREW DOWNS.

An ambulance corps composed of 50 Irish-Americans is on its way to the Transvaal, where it will work within the Boer lines, giving aid and comfort to the sick and wounded burghers who are fighting for the independence of the two South African republics. The corps has been officially recognized by the Red Cross society and is sent out by the United Irish societies of Chicago and Boston.

It was first intended to send a corps numbering 100 men, but the contributions would not warrant the dispatching of so large a number. Of the 50 who have sailed 39 are from Chicago. The other 11 members are volunteers from Lawrence, Lowell and Boston.

These Irish-Americans who go to the aid of the Boers are all men of experience in hospital and ambulance work. Many of them are ex-members of volunteer regiments. They offer their services without hope of reward, prompted solely by their enthusiasm for the Boer cause. All of them are single men.

It is a striking evidence of the mixed sympathies with which Americans regard the Boer-British struggle that this ambulance corps sailed for Pretoria on the day following Mrs. Langtry's famous tea concert, which was given in the interest of a fund to maintain a hospital ship for the benefit of wounded British soldiers.

The Irish-American ambulance corps will sail from Marseilles for Delagoa Bay, from whence it will proceed direct to Pretoria. It is expected that within a month it will be at the front.

The members of the corps wear khaki uniforms and campaign hats decorated with the symbol of the Red Cross society. They carry a complete field equipment, consisting of hospital cots, stretchers, bedding and medical supplies. Undoubtedly they will be warmly welcomed by the Boers.

The corps is in charge of Dr. A. F. Conroy of Chicago, who is a graduate of St. Jarlath's college, Tuam, Ireland, and was chief examiner in the Seventh Illinois regiment when the Chicago recruits were sent to Camp Alger during the Spanish-American war.

He has on his staff the following experienced physicians: Dr. John R. MacNamara, for several years assistant county physician of Cook county; Dr. J. J. Slattery, graduate of Bellevue college, New York, formerly chief surgeon of Dubuque hospital; Dr. H. H. McCauley, surgeon general of the North Carolina national guard during the late war; Dr. Condon of Philadelphia and Dr. Aderhold of 1800 Wabash avenue, Chicago. Dr. Aderhold, who was born in Georgia, is the only volunteer of German descent, although two Hollanders, Rudolph Linschorten, who has already served seven years in the Boer army, and Albert Verslines, who was a member of the First Illinois, also belong to the corps.

Upon joining the corps each Chicago member signed the following affidavit: "I, ——, being first duly sworn upon oath, depose and say that I am over 21 years of age and that I desire to join the hospital corps now being organized in the city of Chicago, Cook county and state of Illinois, for service on the field in behalf of the sick and wounded Boers in South Africa. I further say that I have not, to the best of my knowledge and belief, any complaint or ailment likely to terminate suddenly and fatally, and I further declare that I am unmarried and have no person or persons, wife or children, father or mother or sister or brother, dependent on me for support and that I undertake this work freely, voluntarily, of my own accord and without solicitation from any party or parties.

"I have no claims against any person or Irish societies of any kind or character on account of my undertaking said work, and I hereby forever, as well upon my own behalf as upon that of all others who may claim reward for my services, release all and every such society and person from any obligation of any kind or character, financially or otherwise, in that behalf."

Colonel John F. Finerty, who organized the movement to equip the hospital corps and who commands the Clan-na-Gael guards in Chicago, is a close friend of Colonel John Y. Fillmore Blake, who is the commanding officer of the Irish forces in the Transvaal, their friendship dating from the Apache campaign in which both participated.

HER CALLING UNIQUE.

Chicago Woman Who Has Won Success as a Landscape Gardener.

The newly appointed landscape gardener of Lincoln park, Chicago, is a woman. She is Mrs. A. E. McCrea. For a number of years she has been engaged in this field of work, which is a somewhat unusual one for women. But Mrs. McCrea has been singularly successful and is widely known throughout the west as an artist in the work of assisting nature and arranging beautiful natural effects.

Her husband, the late J. F. McCrea, achieved fame as an artistic landscape gardener, and during his life she invariably assisted him in perfecting his designs. Upon his death it came very natural to her to take up his work. She is a diminutive lady of exquisite taste, refinement and education and is energetic and persevering.

The grounds surrounding many of Michigan's public institutions were improved and beautified by Mrs. McCrea. The parks of Milwaukee, St. Paul and Detroit were transformed from plain sodded strips into stretches of flowering, tree and shrub covered woodlands. Many of the most beautiful private gardens of Chicago have been arranged by her, and all show an originality in groupings and selections which takes her work out of the stereotyped lines in which landscape gardening has a tendency to fall. Mrs. McCrea has an advantage over the majority of landscape gardeners in the fact that she has traveled extensively and has become familiar with all the leading parks of the country. In addition she is possessed of a thorough knowledge of trees and shrubs and their habits.

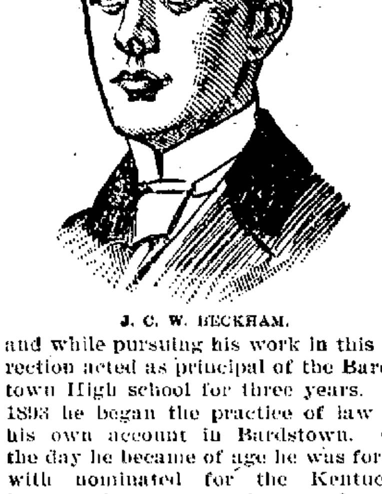

GOEBEL'S SUCCESSOR.

Man Whom Kentucky Democrats Would Seat as Governor.

Mr. J. C. W. Beckham, who was the candidate for lieutenant governor of Kentucky on the Goebel ticket and who is now being supported by the Kentucky Democrats in their contest for the governorship, is probably the youngest aspirant for gubernatorial honors the Blue Grass State has ever seen. He is only 30 years old and is particularly boyish in appearance, being slight of physique and having a smooth face.

Mr. Beckham is a member of one of the oldest families in Kentucky. His father was William N. Beckham and his mother Julia T. Wickliffe, daughter of Governor Charles A. Wickliffe, former chief executive of the state. His earliest education was received in a private school at Bardstown. In the legislative session of 1881 and 1882 he acted as a page in the house of representatives. In January, 1884, he entered Central Union college of Richmond, graduating in 1886.

Immediately after leaving college Mr. Beckham began the study of law and while pursuing his work in this direction acted as principal of the Bardstown High school for three years. In 1893 he began the practice of law on his own account in Bardstown. On the day he became of age he was forthwith nominated for the Kentucky house of representatives and was elected. He declined to be a candidate at the next term, but the representative who succeeded him having dropped out Mr. Beckham accepted the position and served the unexpired term. He was re-elected in 1897 and made speaker of the house in 1898.

J. C. W. BECKHAM.

In 1899 he was nominated for lieutenant governor on the same ticket with William Goebel at the Louisville convention. Few men in Kentucky have had so brilliant a career within so short a time, and his followers have felt that he would be a credit to the state in the chair of chief executive.

CAN YOU NAME IT?

This is a township in a county in this state. Are you familiar enough with the geography of Wisconsin to know the name of the county this township is a part of? If you cannot tell it at a glance you should read up at once. Become familiar with your own county by placing an order for the new Rock County Map we are to issue. The latest atlas is about ten years old, and for the progress of education if for no other reason, the work should receive the hearty support of Rock County people. The map will be 42x47 inches in size and will locate farms, schools, churches, town houses, villages, cities, streams, roads, railroads, names of landowners, etc., etc. It will be lithographed, mounted on cloth, and will cost $6.00; orders can be sent to us in care of The Gazette.

If you desire to see a map or another county similar to the one we are preparing send us your name in care of The Gazette and our representative will call on you.
